Your business records could be earning you money.

AI labs are paying established companies to license their anonymized historical business records. DataSupply prepares everything, brings the offers to you, and you stay in control the whole way. No upfront cost.

WHAT IS HAPPENING

AI needs to learn how real work gets done.

AI labs are building systems that handle everyday business work, and they need real examples to learn from. A company that has run for years already has those examples in the software it uses every day. Labs license a snapshot of those records, with personal information removed, and pay the business for it.

- Emails
- CRM notes
- Support tickets
- Project files
- Team chat
- Call and meeting recordings

You license your records. You do not sell them, and you keep ownership.

Discovery call

A free call of about 30 minutes with the DataSupply team to see if you are a fit and answer your questions.

02

Describe your data

A short form of about 30 to 40 minutes listing your systems, years and rough size. No files are sent.

03

Review offers

AI labs review the description and make offers. You approve every buyer and every term, or say no.

04

Get paid

You license directly to the lab and get paid. Deals typically take about 4 to 6 weeks.

YOU STAY IN CONTROL

- No upfront cost. DataSupply is only paid if a deal closes and you get paid.
- Your approval, in writing. Nothing is shared or licensed without it.
- No one logs into your systems. DataSupply never takes or stores your data.
- Private by design. The AI lab removes personal details. DataSupply never handles raw data.
- Anonymous until you say so. Your name is shared only with buyers you approve.
- More than one buyer. You can often license to several labs, each a separate deal.

Deals have ranged from about $100K to $5M. Every company is different, and no offer, price or timeline is guaranteed. Requirements set by AI labs can change.
